To Whom It May Concern

re: Mravicich Residential - Paul Mravicich (known as Pablo)

We have over some forty years completed a number of building projects. We have also, through our professional capacity as lawyers, considerable contact with the building industry in various ways.

Pablo has just completed a renovation and an addition to our house in Westmere. He came recommended to us when we were looking for a builder for this project. We felt extremely comfortable with Pablo at our first meeting. He appeared to have a genuine interest in us and the project.

Pablo is an exceptional builder. He managed our project in a totally professional, honest, but more importantly, caring way. He has incredibly high standards and he expected those standards to be met by all trades involved in our project. We felt the whole time he was out there battling for us. Nothing was too much trouble. In fact on a number of occasions when we requested particular changes to the plan, he very willingly proceeded to make those alterations without any hesitation at all, something other builders in the past would have done begrudgingly.

We are extremely happy with the end result. However we are even more happy with the fact that we have made a friend in Pablo. We see him not only as the person who built our house but as a very hardworking, kind, caring young man whose friendship with us we hope will continue.

Yours faithfully,
THOMAS & CO.
